

JAMIE O'HARA

DREAM HYMNS

THE SACRED YOU

On the edge of the enormous silence
The setting sun burned blood red,
The desert floor was turning to shadow,
Christ upon the cross hung his head.
Magdalene was begging you
To come and kiss the savior's feet,
But you just couldn't face the suffering,
You just couldn't bear the grief.

Chorus: The sacred you was calling,
Calling out your name.
The sacred you was calling,
But it was all in vain.

The sadness in your face is deafening,
It's screaming there within your eyes,
The truth that you have always run from
So impossible now to hide.
Time has left you no escape,
The end is drawing ever near,
There's still a chance for you to surrender,
There's still a chance for you to hear.

Chorus: The sacred you is calling.
Calling out your name,
The sacred you is calling,
Don't let it be in vain.